

Coronavirus Notice: Georgia MLS Training Institute Classes Held Remotely

In light of the health concerns related to the spread of the coronavirus, COVID-19, Georgia MLS Training Institute is holding all classes virtually until further notice.

This decision is in line with our commitment to maintaining the continuity of classes with minimal interruption to help you achieve your educational pursuits while ensuring the safety of our students and staff.

To participate in a virtual live class, you must have a computer with a video webcam. You must enable the video so that you are visible. You may also use a smartphone; however, data rates may apply, and data may be consumed quickly. Therefore, a computer with a webcam is strongly recommended.

Virtual live classes will maintain the same class standards and requirements as if you were physically among your classmates and instructor. The same policies for attendance and participation apply. If you are enrolled in a virtual live class, you will receive an email the business day before the class start date with login and other pertinent information.

All prelicense and postlicense courses require a proctored final examination. Students may schedule an exam appointment using the link on the homepage of our website. Click on Submit A Final Exam Appointment Request located in the COVID-19 Updates section.

We appreciate your cooperation and understanding during these uncertain times. Georgia MLS Training Institute is committed to keeping you informed. We will continue to provide updates and information as necessary to keep you up-to-date with your classes.

For additional information about the coronavirus, please review the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) website.
